Raise your bar and we will reach...

Since you will deal with an integrated group of specialized companies that have comprehensive and efficient teams, be confident that you will get outstanding products and services presented in the most creative and elegant forms.

With us, you will not go again through the experience of paying for a mediocre output that isn't what it's cracked up to be or having to deal with closed boxes whose content turns out to be disappointing. You will not receive cliched, repetitive or boilerplate designs, but by adopting an open design for spaces and flexible façades options in formation and design, you can get the design you dream of, with facilitated payment options and thus enjoy a result that is customized to your individual preferences, taste and aspirations.

Al Hammam Group has also been keen to adopt the latest design methodologies used in the finest urban and academic contexts, such as design using digital equations and algorithms, in addition to considering environmental sustainability and green building standards with low emissions, which achieves an added value and a competitive advantage for the group's products in design and implementation.

Core Values

■ Credibility

Our most essential quality, that has been established through years of solid work. Ask about us, experience for yourself, and then add up your testimony to our already huge credit, and become one of our true friends.

■ Many redlines!

Our company has guaranteed red lines that do not need to be talked about or mentioned at all, such as adherence to delivery dates or considering the quality of work. Or in particular conformity to specifications, and the absence of any discrepancies in implementation from the best specifications and practices and customized client requirements.

Core Values

■ Professionalism meets Passion

The group has ensured that the methods it employs in every field are professional and of highest standards where attention is given to the smallest details, which yields reliable outputs, and in the finest and most elaborate form. Therefore, its staff selection process is careful and accurate, and in line with its keenness to preserve the quality of its outputs and protect its name and reputation that it has built with dedication over the years.
